

40 Days of Prayer & Devotion to Easter

Day 14

As we continue to look at the theme of #liveoutward within scripture, today we will be looking Hebrews 6:10.

In verses 1-8, the writer of Hebrews has come off the heels of talking about people who claim Christ and don't live out His word in their lives.

As we look in verses 9-12, specifically verse 10, we see a promise of better things, even in struggle and trials, as we seek to follow the Lord in our lives.

Hebrews 6:10 "For God is not unjust so as to overlook your work and the love that you have shown for his name in serving the saints, as you still do.

To the people who were being written to this was a huge, because at every turn it seemed they were being persecuted as they tried to live outward in their community.

I think we can feel that pressure of persecution as we talk about Christ with friends, family members, or others who aren't believers. But in those times of pressure, those moments we struggle with the world, we are reminded we are not alone, and that God is not blind to it. What we find is that the hope we have in Christ is worth a momentary discomfort in light of eternity.
